

Site Feasibility Study Support

Nuna is often in the forefront of project development. We engage with our clients and their engineering teams to assist with various levels of feasibility analysis.

Our contributions include constructability and cost inputs that are directly related to civil construction and execution—providing our clients with an increased level of confidence that their project will be constructed on time and on budget. Our participation at this stage offers a degree of cost certainty and helps to reduce capital through constructability optimization.